

Humanitarian Support Group for NRENs

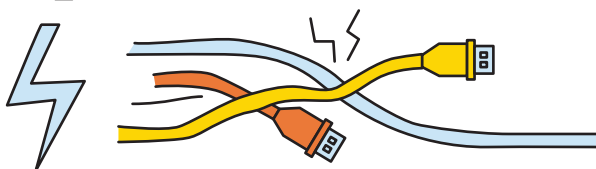

Supporting research and education in times of crisis

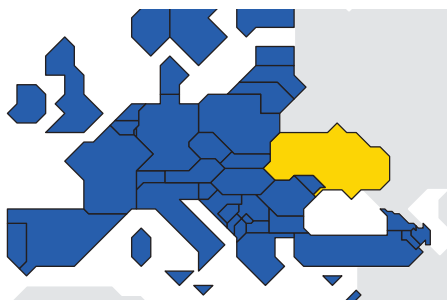

When crisis strikes, learning does not stop.
Research does not stop.

But the systems
that support them
come under strain.

The Humanitarian Support Group is a GÉANT community initiative providing coordinated support to NRENs affected by war, natural disasters, and major disruptions.

We continue to support URAN, the Ukrainian Research and Academic Network, helping maintain continuity for universities and researchers across the war-torn country.

Making a difference where it matters most

Provide rapid assistance to affected NRENs

Share expertise, tools, and operational support

Maintain critical network infrastructure

Help sustain education and research under the most challenging conditions

Watch the short movie by our Ukrainian friends at URAN.

<https://edu.nl/q38ry>

Why your support is important

Provide immediate, flexible financial resources where needs are most urgent

Support students, educators and researchers

Enable local procurement of essential supplies and services, often faster and more cost-effective, while also supporting local economies

Facilitate access to education and collaboration

Scan the QR code and donate today

or use this link:
edu.nl/uugtv